

Shoot to Kill Rioters, Police Told

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — If racial violence erupts here, police have orders from Mayor William F. "Casey" Laman to "shoot to kill the minute it breaks out."

If the police kill as many as they can in the first five minutes after the trouble breaks out, there won't be any riot," Laman said Saturday. "My first thought is to protect the police and lawful citizens."

Laman, frequently mentioned as a possible candidate for Arkansas' 1968 Democratic gubernatorial nomination, has drawn strong support from Negro precincts during his 10 years in office, and he recently instituted a system of "instant" parks in the city's Negro neighborhood.

He said the violence, looting and burning in other cities this summer had been nothing but

"insurrections by thieves and hoodlums."
"Anyone who smashes a store window, sets fire to a man's house or shoots at a policeman has no rights," he declared. "He's a thief and a potential murderer. Our police force is not going to stand around with its hands tied while white and Negro hoodlums steal, burn and kill."

Kills Grandson Accidentally

SMACKOVER, Ark. (AP) — A visit with his grandfather ended tragically for Billy B. Davis, 14, of Flint, Mich.

Jim Williams, the boy's grandfather, heard a rustle in the bushes outside his Sandylan community home, about eight miles north of El Dorado Wednesday night.

Thinking it was a prowler, Williams fired into the bushes several times with his .22-caliber rifle.

The youngster, who had been hiding in the bushes, was struck in the abdomen by one of the shots. He died Saturday.

36 Negroes Paid $60 Week to 'Keep Cool'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — William "Sonny" Walker, director of the Pulaski County Economic Opportunity Agency, said Saturday that North Little Rock Mayor William F. "Casey" Laman was wrong when he charged that the EOA was spending $100,000 to finance a non-existent program of community recreation.

Walker said 36 workers were being paid $60 a week under a "keep cool" program begun two weeks ago to prevent racial violence. He said there was a budget of $70,000 for the program, which involves organized recreation in Negro communities.

Laman had charged that the nine workers assigned to North Little Rock "couldn't be found," and that he had been told that they had "pawned or sold" the recreational equipment with which they had been furnished.

"There is not one iota of evidence that there is any type of organized recreation in progress in North Little Rock as a result of the program," Laman said. Laman said the group had been organized all summer under a $100,000 federal grant, and that the workers received $65 a week. He said there had been reports that the youths employed in the program spent most of their time driving around in cars furnished to them by the EOA.

Walker said the youths hadn't had time to get the program under way. He said the EOA applied for its grant July 15 under a federal program that was signed into law June 10.

Walker said most of the workers had long histories of trouble with the police, but that he had selected them specifically in order to "give these people a sense of responsibility and direction toward a useful place in the community."

Carrier Slated for Repairs

MANILA (AP) — The aircraft carrier Forrestal is tentatively scheduled to leave Friday for repairs in the United States, probably at the Norfolk, Va., Navy yard, a spokesman at the Subic Bay naval base said today. The spokesman said the death toll in the disastrous fire aboard the carrier had risen from 131 to 132, presumably because an injured man had died, while one crewman previously reported missing had turned up and the number of missing was now two.

"Bonanza," on NBC, was loping along at the head of the television pack until it encountered CBS's Smothers Brothers at midseason. Its producers have decided it is time for some reinforcement. Thus there will be a new character, played by handsome, young David Canary. It marks the first change on the Ponderosa since Pernell Roberts quit several seasons back.

Napoleon Solo of NBC's "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." will cease his compulsive philandering and settle down at the start of the season anyway to dates with one girl, the boss' secretary, played by Barbara Moore. There will henceforth be Batgirl helping out Batman and Robin on ABC. Dale Robertson will be casting interested glances at Ellen McRae, and Old West career girl, when he's not busily salvaging ABC's "Iron Horse."

Hermione Baddeley, a fine British comedienne, will join the supernatural group of ABC's "Bewitched," playing the witchy nanny of the baby who was last season's format-freshener. Dr. Richard Kimble of "The Fugitive" will cease running and get acquitted of his wife's murder in the final two episodes which ABC will broadcast on Aug. 22 and 29. It will be the first time in any of the series built around a running or searching man that the public learns the outcome.

Adams is a retired school teacher from Ardmore, Okla. His sisters are Nettie Clay of Lubbock and Cora Comer of Plainview, Tex.

Mrs. Clay said the trio never kept secrets from one another. "We were inseparable," she related. "That's for sure," broke in her husband, Tom. "Why, I could hardly ever get her alone when I was courting her. Those two were always around."

MEMORIAL TO THE LIVING

Dear Helen: Three years ago my husband left his wife to marry me. She got a divorce in Reno and never came back to this town, though she has many friends here. Every year on the anniversary of the divorce, our paper carries an ad on the vital statistics page, all outlined in black—"In memory of Mrs. —, who left us on July 10, 1964. She lives in our hearts; she is just away."

The editor and my husband are political enemies and don't speak without fighting, so we can't ask him to kill the "memorial," or even find out who pays for it.

What can we do?—THE NEW MRS. —

Dear Mrs. —: You can ignore the yearly cut until the back-biter tires of it.

... Ah, 'tis true: One way of another women make "other women" pay.—H.

Dear Helen: Please, where can I get a good book on manners for a teenage boy?—DESPERATE MOTHER

Dear Desperate: The library can supply a teen etiquette book, but don't expect much improvement until your son finds a girl. You can lead a boy to manners but you can't make him think seriously about them until a cute little trick shows him they're worthwhile.—H.

Dear Helen: I happen to know my employer is about to have an affair with his new secretary. I know because last year I was the one, but now I get all the dirty jobs she doesn't want. ... No more three-hour lunches with HIM!

I'm thinking of writing an anonymous letter to his wife, telling her what's up. Shouldn't she be warned?—JILTED AND MAD

Dear J and M: Funny you didn't think of that last year!

If the Boss has a new "great and good" assistant every few months you can be sure his wife already knows. Stop spelling "secretary" with an "x" and start earning your keep with WORK, for a change.—H.

Dear Helen: What makes these cheating husbands think that as long as they are "discreet," their wives will never know? They fail to consider the built-in instinct and sixth sense of women, particularly of wives who are faithful and keenly tuned in to those they love. It's true that a wife is the "last to know," but mostly because she is the last to WANT to know. She clings, ostrich-like, to her faith and trust, even when her intellect tells her he's wandering. Nevertheless, from the beginning of her husband's cheating, a sense of uneasiness and foreboding is there, and this takes a toll of the happiness in her home. Ironically, a cheating manager-dom tries "to make it up to" his wife by being extra kind. Instead he becomes fault-finding and irritable, and puzzled mate's unhappiness makes it easier for him to rationalize by telling himself "she had it coming to her." He compares the overworked and underpaid, housekeeper, laundry and babysitter in his home with the man-hunting girls he meets in bars, never thinking that if he used the same charm on his wife, a miracle of happiness would transform her. I, too, was a single girl once, attractive, popular, and fun-loving. But I never dated married men. I felt that I would never do to another woman what I wouldn't want done to me when I became a wife. Well, Helen, it's been done to me.—HEART-BROKEN.

Chance Hurls Perfect 5 Inning Game

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Fun-loving Dean Chance didn't let a little rain spoil his day.

In fact Chance was grateful for the precipitation that ended his mini-perfect game against Boston in the fifth inning Sunday.

The Minnesota right-hander had mowed down the first 15 batters he faced and was leading 2-0 after 4½ innings when the rain came. After a 57-minute wait, the game was called and Chance had a somewhat abbreviated no-hitter.

"Believe me boys," Chance said later, "I'm glad it rained. How do I know what would have happened if the game had continued. I could have gone back out and thrown, but they might have got 10 runs off me."

The victory was Minnesota's third straight over Boston and moved the Twins into second place in the American League, 2½ games back of the Chicago White Sox, who lost a doubleheader to Baltimore 5-2 and 4-0.

In other games, Washington dropped California 7-2, New York topped Kansas City 9-6 and Detroit split a doubleheader with Cleveland, winning 7-3 and losing 6-3.

In the National League, St. Louis upped its lead to 8½ games, edging Cincinnati 3-2, Philadelphia pounded Houston 8-4, Los Angeles shaded Pittsburgh 5-4, Atlanta whipped Chicago 6-4 and San Francisco swept a doubleheader from New York 9-7 in 10 innings and 4-1.

Chance's game probably won't make it into the record books. He gets credit for a complete game but baseball records list perfect games and no-hitters only of nine innings or longer.

"That's okay with Chance though," he says. "It's just nice to win," he says. "I don't even think no-hitters anymore. I like to pitch shutouts but there's too much hell involved in pitching a no-hitter to worry about it. I just want to win."

So, he won. It was his fifth shutout of the season and his 14th victory. He leads the league with 190 innings pitched and 26 starts.

The Twins scored both their runs against loser Jim Lonborg, 15-5, in the fourth inning when Cesar Tovar walked and Harmon Killebrew singled. Bob Allison's double scored one run and Rich Rollins' single produced the other.

The White Sox were victimized by Russ Snyder's three-run pinch homer in the first game and Tom Phoebus' six-hit shutout in the nightcap.

Snyder connected in the seventh inning and Wally Bunker, who worked four innings of air-tight relief, gained credit for the victory. Phoebus drove in two runs in the second game and Paul Blair hammered a homer as the Orioles completed the sweep.

Paul Casanova and Bernie Allen drove in two runs apiece for the Senators, who won their 20th game in the last 28. Camillo Pascual, 11-8 worked the first five innings and Darold Knowles finished up. Jim McGlothlin, 9-3, was the loser.

Bill Freehan's three-run homer carried the Tigers past Cleveland in the first game of their doubleheader but a four-run first inning rally highlighted by Duke Sims' three-run shot, brought the Indians back in the nightcap.

Joe Sparda allowed just one hit over the last six innings and won his 12th game in the opener. Steve Hargan and Orlando Pena limited the Tigers to four hits in the second game.

Tom Tresh and Jake Gibbs keyed two New York rallies with run-scoring singles as the Yankees overcame Kansas City and regained ninth place from the Athletics.

Fading Cubs Silent in Dressing Room

By JOE MOOSHIL
CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cub dressing room is quiet these days. There's no singing, shouting or telling of jokes.

The players sit in front of their lockers with empty stares on their faces. When they speak to each other, they speak in whispers.

Following Sunday's 6-4 loss to Atlanta — the sixth in a row and 11th in 14 games since July 24 when the Cubs were tied for the National League lead — the only noise in the dressing room was the eerie hissing from the steaming showers.

Over in Manager Leo Durocher's private quarters which are separated from the players area by a winding concrete walk, the action was nil.

Only a couple of weeks ago, Leo came into his office, kick off his shoes, tilt his chair against the wall and say "Okay, boys, what do you want to know?"

It's different now. Leo kicked off his shoes Sunday, said "Hello boys" to the three writers who ventured into the room and then slipped into the shower room where he began shaving.

Win, lose or draw, nobody in the world takes as long to shave as Durocher.

He was still shaving when asked "Leo, what's wrong other than the fact the club isn't getting any hitting and pitching?"

"Not a thing, you said it all," said Durocher.

"Leo, a lot of people thought the Cubs had had it when they went into a seven-game losing streak but then they bounced right back."

"I let people think what they want," said Durocher.

"Leo, can the Cubs pull out of this? Do they need a break or some kind of unexpected comeback from behind win to get going again?"

"Hell, no," said Durocher as he started working on the upper lip. "We need a win. Any kind of win and I don't care how we do it. Just a little hitting and one lousy damned win, that's all."

The Cubs will get plenty of opportunities this week. They start with a doubleheader against Pittsburgh Monday and then don't miss a day before closing the home stand with a doubleheader against Philadelphia Sunday.

The rhinoceros is considered a good swimmer.

Cards Add to Margin, Cubs Slip

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The year of the streak in the National League is continuing along and about all the opponents of the St. Louis Cardinals have to console themselves with is a bit of ancient history.

The Cards won their fifth in a row Sunday, edging Cincinnati 3-2, while the Chicago Cubs lost their sixth straight, 6-4 to Atlanta, and fell into third place nine games off the pace.

The Cardinals should beware, however. It was almost exactly 10 years ago today that they started a nine-game losing streak while the Milwaukee Braves—remember them?—won the first of 10 in a row and went on to the pennant.

In other National League games Sunday, San Francisco swept two from New York 9-7 in 10 innings and 4-1, Philadelphia beat Houston 8-4 and Los Angeles edged Pittsburgh 5-4.

In the American League, Minnesota no-hit Boston 2-0 in a rain-shortened 4½-inning game, Baltimore won a doubleheader from Chicago 5-2 and 4-0, Washington bounced California 7-2, New York took Kansas City 9-6 and Detroit split with Cleveland, winning 7-3 and losing 6-3.

If the Cards are to start losing games instead of winning them, they'll have to play an entirely different brand of baseball. Not only are they hitting the ball quite nicely—Orlando Cepeda hit his 20th homer Sunday—but also they are taking care of each other.

Nelson Briles was breezing along on a shutout until the sixth, for instance, when all of a sudden his curve ball straightened out and the Reds got two runs.

But Ron Willis came in and took care of things and not another run scored. In his last 12 appearances, Willis hasn't given up a run.

The Cubs, on the other hand, can't seem to do anything right lately.

"We need a win," moaned Manager Leo Durocher. "Any kind of win and I don't care how we do it. Just a little hitting and one lousy damned win."

Joe Torre's two-run homer went a long way toward denying the Cubs that one win Sunday. Adolfo Phillips hit one out for the Cubs.

The Giants moved into second place on the strength of their two victories over the Mets. Ty Cline drove in the deciding run in the opener with a single in the 10th and Willie McCovey's three-run homer in the eighth won the nightcap.

Bill White clubbed a three-run homer, highlighting a five-run Phillies' rally in the eighth inning. It was the sixth win in a row for the Phillies, Ron Davis and pitcher Dave Giusti homered for the Astros.

Len Gabrielson had three hits and Ron Hunt drove in two runs for the Dodgers, who ended a five-game loss streak. Bob Miller got the Pirates out with men on first and third in the eighth by getting Donn Clendenon to hit into a double play.

Hutcherson Takes Top Racing Money

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dick Hutcherson, leading the Dixie 500 for the last 35 to 40 laps, found the seat of his 1967 Ford Fairlane a pretty uneasy chair.

"I just knew something was going to happen," he said, "and I sat there praying that nothing would."

Nothing did. He crossed the finish line still in front Sunday to win his first super-speedway race since he joined the NASCAR ranks two years ago after several years on dirt tracks.

The 36-year-old Hutcherson, from Camden, S. C., said he played a waiting game with some of stock car racing's best before minor collisions and mechanical troubles eliminated them one by one.

"They don't pay the money until the checkered flag comes down," said Hutcherson, who averaged 132,248 miles per hour and picked up $16,505.

Hutcherson said he figured it was time to abandon his waiting game when he gained the lead after 258 laps of the 334-lap race at the 1½-mile Atlanta International Raceway. He went into first place while defending champion Richard Petty was making three pit stops under a caution flag, trying to remedy a leaky radiator.

Nicklaus Is Western Open Winner

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP) — Jack Nicklaus' left ear ached and he couldn't hear out of it. When he putted, that old click was gone. Some 21,000 fans followed him but it was just half that many to

A doctor treated him for a fungus brought on by swimming. He plugged up Jack's ear gave him a shot and what must be the world's greatest golfer went out and won the Western Open Sunday.

Nicklaus did it by coming in the back door. It was left open by Doug Sanders' collapse with bogeys on the last two holes.

Nicklaus, playing ahead of Doug, sat on the last green and watched him come in—a struggling, brightly garbed veteran trying desperately to lick a slump that has left him with only one tourney victory this year.

After missing the green on the 17th and taking a bogey, Sanders found the same trouble on the 18th and bogeyed to finish with a 72 for 276.

He had a chance until the last two holes. Nicklaus had three-putted the 18th to close with a 69 for a 274 total, 10 under par.

Sanders said later that "I just used the wrong club."

As Sanders faded, someone asked Nicklaus to smile for a picture. He frowned instead.

"Do you think I like to win this way?" he said quietly. "Doug played fine golf. He lost it. I didn't win it. It's like coming in the back door. I don't like to win on somebody's misfortunes."

"I didn't want anybody to know about my ear," he added. "I had to play by feel out there. All the clicks were gone. The ball plopping into the cup wasn't there. There are sounds in golf that mean a lot."

Baltimore Colts Go as Unitas Goes

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The situation is normal in the old Colt corral—as Johnny Unitas goes, so goes Baltimore.

When John's sore right shoulder gave him so much trouble last year that he couldn't put speed on the short pass, Coach Don Shula shocked the pro football world by benching his ace. The final National Football League statistics for Unitas showed an unbelievable total of 24 interceptions.

Operating on the theory that a precious arm like Unitas' shouldn't be overworked, Shula has been taking it easy on the 34-year-old passer during the training season. He warms up once a day and throws only a few passes while the rest of the Colts struggle through two-a-day drills.

Shula is high on Jim Ward, a taxi squad quarterback from Gettysburg, who figures as a backup man for Unitas.

"John is throwing the ball well without pain," said Shula.

Despite the impression in some circles that the Colts are getting old and have passed their peak, Shula insists he has the young blood to fill the gap. Newcomers such as rookies Ray Perkins, Bubba Smith, Jim Detwiler and Rick Volk and ex-Packer Bill Curry figure in his plans.

"Our objective is to get our offense back to the 1964 level when we won the conference title," said Shula.

The key to the offense, of course, will be Unitas throwing to Raymond Berry, the veteran split end, and to John Mackey, the all-NFL tight end. Lenny Moore has moved to flanker from his halfback spot to team with Jimmy Orr.

Tom Matthe, the sub quarterback back of 1965, is the No. 1 halfback. Much is expected of Detwiler, a 6-foot-3, 220-pound rookie from Michigan. Shula is letting Tony Lorick and Jerry Hill fight it out for the No. 1 fullback job after alternating for years.

The retirement of Alex Sanksy leaves a gap at guard, Jim Vogel and Jim Parker will man the tackles with Sam Bell in reserve. Dan Sullivan is moving over to right guard and Glenn Ressler is getting the big shot at the other guard. Rookie Norm Davis of Grambling also is a candidate. Dick Syzmanski is back at center.

The Colts' relatively small but quick defense line will be anchored by Orrell Brasse at right end, Andy Stynchula is challenging Lou Michaels at left end, Smith, the 6-7, 295 pound No. 1 draft, is slated for right tackle but will have to oust Billy Ray Smith. Fred Miller is the other tackle.

Curry is fighting Danny Oauatz for the middle linebacker job. Mike Curtis and Don Shinnick will flank the winner.

A place must be found for Volk, the No. 2 draftee from Michigan, in the defensive backfield, possibly at strong safety over Jerry Logan or at free safety over Alvin Haymond, Bobby Boyd and Lenny Lyles are the cornermen.

In sharp contrast to last season when the Colts were groping for a punter at this stage of the training campaign, Dave Lee is firmly entrenched with his league-leading 45.6 yard punting average. Michaels again will do the place kicking.

Pan-American Games Very Successful

By MURRAY ROSE
WINNIPEG (AP) — The fifth Pan-American Games, which many skeptics figured would never get off the ground in Winnipeg, has ended a highly successful 15-day run for the United States and Canada.

Uncle Sam's powerful squad romped off with a record-tying 120 gold medals and still caused an upset on the playing field by winning the baseball title for the first time.

Winnipeg and Canada earned accolades for staging a beautifully organized program, thanks largely to the community efforts of thousands of youngsters and adults in this city of 500,000.

Maybe as a reward for their herculean efforts, the sun shone brightly during the impressive and colorful closing ceremonies Sunday and Canada's Jim Day captured the final gold medal of the games—the individual equestrian jumping. Brazil won the Nation's Cup team title.

Between 18,000 and 22,000 spectators thronged to Winnipeg stadium for the Equestrian finale and the closing ceremonies. In between approximately 400,000 spectators paid above $800,000 to see various events, including such minor sports as field hockey and volleyball.

The United States, in tying the gold record of 120 set by it in 1959 in Chicago, swept 28 of the 33 golds in swimming and diving, 30 of 35 in track and field, all eight in wrestling, 11 of 12 in shooting, six of seven in rowing, 10 of 14 in gymnastics, five of seven in weightlifting and swept the team titles in men and women's volleyball, water polo and men's basketball.

Brazil won the women's basketball crown from the defending United States and Mexico captured the soccer title.

In the baseball windup Saturday night, America defeated Cuba 2-1 for a 2-of-3 victory after losing two games to Cuba in the preliminary round. In basketball, the Yanks trounced Mexico's smaller men 93-74.

In all the United States had a total of 227 medals, 120 gold, 63 silver and 44 gold. Canada was second in both golds and totals with 12-37-43—82. Then came Argentina 9-14-11, Cuba 8-14-23, and Mexico 5-14-24.

Ellis Ready for Spencer in Fight-off

HOUSTON (AP) — It is not known whether the winners in Saturday's Astrodome quarter-finals of the world heavyweight elimination tournament will meet later in the series, but the man who manages Jimmy Ellis says his fighter is ready for Thad Spencer.

Ellis is the Louisville fighter who reminds some of the another boxer from that town, Cassius Clay, who caused the World Boxing Association series to be set up when he refused to be drafted.

The man who trains Ellis, Angelo Dundee, predicted Saturday after Ellis finished off Leotis Martin of Philadelphia on a ninth-round technical knockout that Spencer would knock out Ernie Terrell, the 8 to 5 favorite.

Spencer managed a knockdown in the second, but no knockout, winning on points. He was aided by a two-point penalty Terrell drew in the 10th for hitting low.

Dundee last visited the Dome in February, tending Clay's corner in the champion's most recent title defense, a thorough defeat of Terrell.

It is Spencer's tendency to leave his chin open while body punching, and that makes Dundee believe Ellis would have the advantage if the two should fight.

Martin's battered lip is evidence supporting Dundee's claim. Doctors spent more than 30 stitches closing a cut, which left the lip dangling by the time the fight was halted.

The tournament continues Sept. 16 when Karl Mildenberg meets Oscar Bonavena. Floyd Patterson fights Jerry Quarry Oct. 28.

THE WELL CHILD New Treatments Combat Water on the Brain

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother writes that her 18-month-old son has hydrocephalus or water on the brain. Her doctor says an operation will not help the child and that she should place him in an institution. She wonders if there is any treatment that will help her son. Various operations for this condition have been devised but to be effective they must be performed in the first few weeks of life. They shunt the cerebrospinal fluid from the cavity in the brain in which it is trapped into the blood stream or the gall bladder.

Q—My daughter, 13, has horizontal ridges on her nails. Is this caused by a vitamin deficiency?

7 and 14. Complete recovery after many months is the rule. The treatment is directed at curing the rheumatic fever, preventing rheumatic heart disease and preventing the victim from hurting himself when his jerking becomes extreme.

Q—In some persons a deficiency of the vitamin B complex is the cause. In others hepatitis, influenza, scarlet fever, measles or malaria is the cause and in some no cause can be found.

Oswald: "Modern bidding is a strange and wonderful thing. Take the cue bid as an example. Once upon a time it was used to show first-round control and a very good hand. Today it may show almost anything."

Jim: "I notice that you seem to take to these modern cue bids as a duck to water. What are you complaining about?"

Oswald: "I'm not complaining at all. It is just a matter of getting used to them."

Jim: "Here's a hand that shows cue bids at their best, although most complicated."

Oswald: "South's double is a good one. West's heart raise presents to North a real problem. He doesn't like to bid no-trump with only one heart stopper. He holds only three spades and he has a maximum pass. A three-heart cue bid is a slight overbid but it does solve his problem temporarily."

Jim: "South's four-diamond bid is the normal response to the cue bid. He doesn't know where North is heading but he is ready to go."

Oswald: "If South had bid three spades, North would raise him to four. The four-diamond bid encourages North and he makes a repeat cue bid."

Jim: "He is still willing to settle for four spades if South bids it but South is after a diamond slam in spite of the fact that North has passed originally. He gets there by means of the Blackwood route."

Oswald: "The slam makes easily. Since diamonds break 2-2 and the jack of spades drops doubleton, South is able to discard one of dummy's clubs on his fourth spade; knock out the ace of clubs and ruff his third club."

Jim: "Otherwise, South might have had to locate the jack of clubs to make 12 tricks."

Civil Peace Prevails In Most Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Civil peace, with only a few minor exceptions, prevailed across the nation today amid federal, state and local efforts aimed at solving racial problems and preventing further rioting.

The trouble spots Sunday were: Wichita, Kan., where a white man was wounded by a sniper's bullet; Great Bend, Kan., where a Negro tavern was firebombed; and Pittsburgh, Pa., where teen-agers rioted after a rock 'n' roll show.

Reporting no disturbances were previously riot-wracked Detroit, Providence, R.I., Milwaukee, Wis., and Cambridge, Md.

While many Negro and white leaders and legislators sought ways to head off further racial storms, H. Rap Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), termed recent riots only forerunners of "revolution."

At Wichita, as the city entered its second night of police-enforced curfew Sunday, a sniper shot a man in the leg. Six policemen were injured, none seriously, in a collision of two patrol cars at the shooting scene. The sniper was not found. Tension had eased during the day in the wake of a dry goods store fire and the arrest of 19 curfew violators on Saturday night.

A firebombing early Sunday in Great Bend was followed by a meeting of white and Negro civic leaders Sunday night at which a spirit of cooperation was pledged.

Seven youths were arrested after three firebombs were thrown.

Guadalcanal Costly But Important

By REILMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — The island was so little known that no reliable maps, much less charts of the surrounding waters, could be found.

These were not the only question marks. How many enemy troops were on the island? Where were their main defense positions? How much resistance could be expected on the beach? The operation was full of disquieting factors.

Nonetheless, on Aug. 7, 1942—25 years ago today—units of the U.S. First Marine Division attacked Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands and began the first American offensive in the Pacific war.

The ensuing battle, which lasted six months, snapped the chain of Japanese victories in Southeast Asia and the South Pacific. From that day forward, the Japanese were forced to fall back steadily until the final surrender, V-J Day, three years later.

"After Guadalcanal in the latter part of 1942," said Capt. Ohmae Toshikazu of the Imperial Japanese Navy planning staff, "I felt we could not win."

In Japanese strategic planning, the island was a key to what might have been the expulsion of all Allied forces from the Pacific. Having overrun Indo-China (now called Vietnam), Malaysia, the Philippines, and the Netherlands East Indies, and reduced the British bases in Hong Kong and Singapore, the Japanese were preparing to deliver the coup de grace—the capture of Australia and New Zealand.

Moving southward, the Japanese army was to take New Guinea. The navy's mission was to establish a base for air and sea operations to protect the flanks of the invading forces. Guadalcanal had been selected as the site for this base. An airfield was under construction when the U.S. Marines suddenly struck.

Amphibious landings were to become a twice-told story to hosts of American fighting men in the later stages of the Pacific War. But at Guadalcanal—

"It was an experience you just couldn't visualize," says Col. David R. Griffin, who was then a Marine second lieutenant. "I think the reaction of most of us was apprehension."

However, there was no enemy resistance on the beach. The Marines quickly attained their first assigned objectives. A perimeter was established and enlarged. The first Japanese reaction did not come until two weeks later, on Aug. 21, and the attacking force was wiped out to the last man. The Marines soon acquired a healthy respect for the fighting qualities of the Japanese.

"They were tenacious, fearless, and convinced of their superiority," says Maj. Gen. Raymond G. Davis, who was a captain commanding a special weapons company on Guadalcanal. "They considered dying an honor and they just kept coming."

There were Americans, too, who "just kept coming."

American fighter pilots were always outnumbered over Guadalcanal. But Capt. Joe Foss shot down 26 Japanese planes and was awarded the Medal of Honor.

What is the main difference between the Americans who fought on Guadalcanal and those in action in Vietnam today?

Without exception, Marine and Army officers say, "They are better educated today, better trained, better equipped. They exhibit the same devotion as we saw among the men on Guadalcanal."

Hanging Set for a Sunday

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — The attorney general of Washington has been asked if it's all right to hang a man on Sunday.

A Superior Court judge in Vancouver sentenced John Hawkins, 28, to hang on Sept. 17 for the 1964 murder of a Vancouver teen-age girl.

Judge Robert McMullen intended to schedule the execution for a weekday, but because of an inadvertent flip of a calendar page, the hanging was ordered for a Sunday.

No one has ever been hanged on Sunday in Washington.

Hurricane Fatalities
Hurricanes accounted for 126 deaths in the four-year period of 1962-66. Hurricane Betsy, in 1965, claimed 75 lives. Hurricane Audrey, in 1957, claimed a record toll of 395.

walls of the Old City of Jerusalem and in the new part of the Arab sector were closed by the strike. Only three bakeries were open.

Israeli officials claimed the strike was instigated from outside Jerusalem and that it was called to coincide with the arrival in Israel of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's personal representative, Nils G. Gussing, who arrived in Jerusalem Sunday from Amman.

The Israelis and Jordanians finally agreed Sunday on terms on which residents of Israeli-occupied Jordan who fled from their homes can apply to Israel for permission to return. Israel says those who it does not consider security risks can come back.

Jordan rejected the first terms from Israel because they bore the heading "State of Israel." The Jordanians feared this would be considered implied recognition of the Jewish state. They finally agreed on terms adding to that heading the markings of the kingdom of Jordan and of the International Red Cross, which helped work out the agreement.

Because of the delay in agreement on the terms, Israel extended the deadline for the repatriation from Aug. 10 to Aug.

31. The oil embargo imposed by most Arab states touched off bitter wrangles at the Khartoum parley. Kuwait, Libya and Saudi Arabia said the embargo was hurting the Arabs through lost sales more than the United States, Britain and West Germany, against whom it was directed. The Arabs have charged that these three nations helped Israel in the brief war. The Arab foreign ministers agreed to have their finance, economic and petroleum ministers meet in Baghdad Aug. 15 to discuss whether to continue the oil embargo.

Big Negro Vote Expected in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., (AP) — Mississippi holds a Democratic primary election for governor Tuesday and for the first time there is a possibility that a significant number of Negroes will vote.

There have, however, been no signs of attempts to organize bloc voting among Negroes.

No candidate for governor has asked for Negro support.

Civil rights leaders are optimistic that Negro candidates will win some local and county offices. More than 50 Negroes are running in the primary, and others will run in the general election. None is in a statewide race.

For any of the seven candidates for governor, a victory in the primary would be only one stop on the hard road to the governor's office. The consensus among political observers here is that the top two candidates will meet in a runoff second primary Aug. 29.

The victor in the second primary will face Republican Hubert L. Phillips in the general election Nov. 7. Phillips is a proven vote-getter who ran for governor in 1963 but lost to Paul B. Johnson.

Press Revolution
1 in 8 Dailies
Now 'Offset'

The Inland Daily Press Association reports 36 American daily newspapers switched from letterpress to offset printing in 1966, and now 239 of the nation's 1,843 dailies are "offset"—or 12.53 percent. Counting weeklies the total is still greater, for this industrial revolution began with the small papers. Of Arkansas' 30 dailies Hope Star was the fourth to convert, at the end of 1965, and Conway Log Cabin Democrat in 1967 became the fifth. Offset printing utilizes the well-known principle that oil (ink is an oil) and water won't mix. Water is sprayed on the printing plate. It sticks to the white portions of the plate image, but the black portions shed it. Then the ink is sprayed on. Since it is repelled by the water it doesn't touch the white parts of the plate and so they print white in the newspaper.

The offset principle has been known for generations. Early craftsmen worked from huge flat imposition stones, the word "lithography" being derived from the Greek word "lithos" meaning stone, i.e., litho-graph—a drawing on stone. The process was discovered by Senefelder in 1796. But the application of offset to machines took a direction that for years was unfavorable to newspapers. Slow but exact flat-sheet machines turned out beautiful text and pictures for commercial printers and magazines. None had the speed or economy required by newspapers.

But in the 1950's some engineering pioneers at Grand Prairie, Texas, developed the Vanguard rotary offset press—and started a newspaper revolution. The early Vanguard machine was viewed by hundreds of newspaper publishers, including an Arkansas friend of mine. Not many liked it—but the potential was there just the same.

Other manufacturers got the word. Fairchild Camera & Instrument brought out a line of rotary offset presses through its Fairchild Graphic Equipment division (manufacturer of The Star's machine), and the Goss Company, world's largest press builder, suddenly switched its emphasis from letterpress to offset. And finally, the giant Harris-Intertype company bought up the pioneer Vanguard rights and redesigned it as a successful press. Just another example of how the mind of man runs consistently ahead of his ability to design machines and utilize the materials at hand.

Offset's great advantage is that it produces superior pictures in print, in a cheaper and cleaner operation. It represents an industrial revolution that will reach the entire newspaper business except for the largest metropolitan areas.

A machine salesman I have known for 44 years said to me at the Arkansas Press Association convention in Hot Springs in June: "I helped liquidate the last handset printing plant in Arkansas the other day—and I suspect hot-type machines will go out the same way before I die."

Henry Fonda, star of the American stage, became known to millions of movie fans when he played Frank James in the "Jesse James" epic with the late Tyrone Powers—and Fonda hasn't made a bad picture since.

And so Sunday night found me at the Saenger watching "Welcome to Hard Times," starring Fonda and Janice Pennington as classic Western as you will ever see. And your last chance to see it is this Tuesday night.

This is not Hollywood glamour—it's the West as it really was—tough, cruel, and dangerous. Suspense builds up from the very beginning to a thundering finish. Aldo Ray plays the role of a gun-slinging bully who burns a town down—then makes the mistake of coming back to burn it a second time.

Janice Rule is a fetching but doomed dancehall girl. Janice Paige is one of the girls in the chorus of Keenan Wynn's traveling show, and Edgar Buchanan does an ironic bit as the governor's agent who came to find out the new town's name—"Hard Times."

Sunday night's audience got a bang out of one line: After Hard Times was burned the settlers went over to a neighboring ghost town to steal its timbers for rebuilding. The ghost town's name? Hope.

Riots Could Be Issue Politically

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's summer rioting—already generating changes in the Capitol Hill legislative outlook—could be a major issue in the 1968 elections, say Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Everett M. Dirksen.

Kennedy said Sunday the riot issue will have an election impact and the political party that can maintain order and move to alleviate underlying conditions of riots "is going to receive support next year."

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said unless urban problems are lessened before the election, "it's going to be one of the monumental issues in '68."

Kennedy, a New York Democrat, said it initially could cost $2 billion to $4 billion to fight city slum conditions. Dirksen hinted Congress might be willing to vote more money than previously, observing "maybe we haven't spent enough on the problem of cities."

Kennedy, noting the costs of the Vietnam war, said, "I think also it's more essential that we do what is necessary here for our own people."

"If it's going to be a question of one or the other, and I hope it would not come to that, then I would put the priority here in our own country."

He suggested local communities develop their own programs with the federal role being aid and investment, along with tax incentives to private enterprise to invest in slum improvement.

Dirksen spoke on CBS' "Face the Nation," Kennedy on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Already there are indications the Senate will consider broader housing legislation than was planned prior to riots in Detroit, Newark and elsewhere.

A housing subcommittee will begin work on legislation Tuesday with prospects seen for a program to help slum families buy or rent homes.

Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., of the subcommittee said Saturday the bill is sure to include an administration-backed program to fight rats. The House turned down that plan earlier.

Democratic leaders in the House also indicate a slowdown in other antipoverty legislation.

There's Almost Sure to Be Some Gold in Your Own Back Yard

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you had all the gold ever mined by man, it would be worth $112 billion and could be stacked, 90-feet deep, within a single baseball diamond. Incidentally, gold is so well distributed throughout the earth's crust there is probably some right in your own back yard—about a penny's worth per ton of dirt.

There are only three kinds of animals in the world that have black tongues—polar bears, chow dogs, and children who eat licorice.

The spirit-electrifying words of Jesus Christ have been translated into scores of languages, but if he returned to earth and spoke again in the same tongue, he would be understood only in three small villages on the Syrian-Lebanese border. They are the only places left where Western Aramaic, the language of Christ, is still in daily use.

No, Matilda, "blueberry slump" isn't a posture ailment among underprivileged berry pickers. It's a type of bread pudding popular on Cape Cod. Civil Candidates in Vietnam Accuse the Military of Sabotage

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's civilian presidential candidates left 1,000 persons waiting to hear them and flew 425 miles back to Saigon in a huff Sunday after adverse winds forced them to land 10 miles from their reception committee.

Some accused the military government of sabotaging their campaign trip to Quang Tri city in South Vietnam's northernmost province. They refused the U.S. Marines' offer of two open trucks to take them to Quang Tri from the Leatherneck air strip at Dong Ha.

The group of 10 candidates or their representatives left while a Vietnamese welcoming committee was on its way from Quang Tri to pick them up.

The military regime of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu had arranged 22 all-candidate campaign trips to counter criticism that the Thieu-Ky ticket was making unfair use of government planes for campaign trips.

Thieu and Ky, apparently confident they will be elected president and vice president Sept. 3, did not make the first trip Sunday. Some candidates charged this showed the government had meant the trip to be a farce.

Ky complained today that "the candidates wanted deluxe cars to meet them. We don't have cars for them up there."

He said he would go on future trips if all the other candidates go, but not if they merely send representatives. Previously, both Thieu and Ky had indicated they would ignore the trips.

At Quang Tri, information ministry loudspeaker trucks had gone through the surrounding countryside to advertise the candidates' visit. The province chief said a regiment of South Vietnamese troops was around the city to prevent any Viet Cong attack.

When the two planes carrying the candidates approached the city, the pilots refused to land because of strong crosswinds and went to Dong Ha.

Marines at Quang Tri said it is common knowledge that the planes—C-47s—cannot land at the small Quang Tri airstrip at this time of year because of the winds. They said the Vietnamese air force should not have scheduled a landing there.

remember their dreams better than old people.

How it began: In the 12th century Emperor Sun-woh of China became so annoyed with the bickering in his harem that he invented a game played with 120 cards to keep his quarrelling wives quiet. This may have been the first forerunner of the modern bridge club.

Quips from our contemporaries: Catholic Digest magazine reports this sign in a toy store: "If you don't see what you want, just cry for it."

Pleasures of the rich: For a man once believed to be the wealthiest in the world, the old Nizam of Hyderabad, who died last February, had a couple of inexpensive hobbies: he liked to write poetry—and to watch surgical operations.

Worth remembering: "There is no use going back to look for a lost opportunity. Someone else has found it."

Money to burn: Despite the popularity of the credit card Americans still wear out about $40 million in paper currency each day, which the government consigns to the flames. They say it makes a lovely light.

History lesson: Can you identify these U.S. presidents by the following nicknames—"Farmer President," "Ten-Cent Jimmy," "Grand Wrestler," "Prosperity's Advance Agent," and "Houdini in the White House"? They were George Washington, James Buchanan, Abraham Lincoln, William McKinley, and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It was John Masfield who observed, "Success is the brand on the brow of the man who aimed too low."

Rotarians Discuss St. Program

"For want of a nail shoe was lost" is an old adage applicable to the current question of street improvement in Hope. Rotarians discovered last Friday that in the present situation the "nail" that is sadly lacking in public understanding of the proposed arterial system of street improvement.

Through a discussion program conducted by Rotarian Bob White, the question of cost and who is to pay it was repeatedly brought up. Finally, it was suggested to have the proposed solution to the street problem stated in the simplest of terms and to distribute printed copies to the public. Also, it was agreed that word-of-mouth endorsement would prove valuable.

President Clyde Fouse conducted a brief business meeting in which he presented a Past President's pin to Paul Klipsch and gave recognition to Mr. Klipsch for having received an award for work in the district. John Hawkins of Texarkana was a visiting Rotarian.

Arabs in Protest of Unification

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arab merchants and shopkeepers in the former Jordanian sector of Jerusalem padlocked their doors today in protest against Israel's unification of the city. Observers termed the strike nearly 100 per cent effective.

Israel and Jordan meanwhile resolved a deadlock that had been blocking repatriation of an estimated 260,000 Arabs who fled from the west bank of the Jordan River during and after the six-day June war. But Egypt postponed the transfer of Egyptian civilians from the Israeli-occupied Sinai desert into central Egypt.

Cairo newspapers reported an Arab summit conference will be held in Khartoum, the Sudanese capital, starting Aug. 29. The foreign ministers of the 13 Arab nations ended a conference in Khartoum Saturday with a call for the meeting and a pledge to "eradicate all vestiges of Zionist imperialist aggression."

High School Band Plans Rehearsals

Pre-school band rehearsals will begin Monday August 14 for the 67-68 school year. The rehearsals will continue until September 1 which is the date for the first ball game of the year.

Last year many of the Hope Band members marched their first football halftime shows and performed for their first marching contest. When the pre-school rehearsals started many of the members did not think they could do all of the many things required to be a marching band member, but they did, and the band did well during the marching season.

The same will be true for some members this fall. There are 25 more band members on roll this fall than last and a much better balance of instruments, but the fundamental work for the band will be the same, drill and more drill.

The August schedule will be as follows:
8:00 a.m. (C.D.T) Marching practice
9:00 a.m. - Marching and playing rehearsal
10:00 a.m. - Drum section rehearsal
6:00 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. - Section and full band rehearsal

These practices will be held on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

The first game of the year will be at Arkadelphia, and the band will attend but will not plan to march. The date for the Arkadelphia game is September 1, 1967.

Last Combat Units in U.S. to Be Ordered to Vietnam by Pentagon

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans to order to Vietnam large chunks of the last remaining combat divisions in the United States—and may not replace those units, sources report.

This would help meet President Johnson's new troop authorization for Vietnam which would raise the U.S. manpower commitment in the war to 525,000 by next summer.

Two top White House advisers indicate that meanwhile, U.S. allies in Vietnam are considering what additional troops they might send to back up their reported agreement on the need for increased pressure now against the Communists.

The advisers, Clark Clifford and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, reported to President Johnson Saturday upon their return from a visit to South Vietnam, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and South Korea.

"In each instance in our talks with each country, there was recognition that additional pressure should be exerted," said Clifford.

"Everyone feels now is the time for maximum effort," said Taylor, a former ambassador to Saigon. But both said they did not directly ask allies for more troops.

The 45,000-man increase in U.S. strength over the currently authorized 480,000 will go to Southeast Asia between October and next July and will consist mainly of units now classed as part of the Strategic Reserve.

This is an active duty force kept at home primarily to meet sudden contingencies abroad. For example, one Strategic Reserve division—the 82nd Airborne in North Carolina—provided a brigade to help quell the 1965 Dominican Republic crisis.

Sources say Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara probably would defend this approach on two grounds:

—The Strategic Reserve exists to be used.

—President Johnson has directed McNamara to help hold down military expenditures.

The Pentagon could replace units pulled from the Strategic Reserve only after perhaps a year or 18 months, sources say. They reason the country might be able to risk temporary diminishing of the force while meeting the challenge of Vietnam.

Enemy Hits Camp—Light Casualties

By STEVE STIBBENS

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops stormed a U.S. Special Forces camp near the Cambodian border today, inflicting moderate casualties on the 600 South Vietnamese irregulars and their families. The Communists left the bodies of 60 of their men when they were driven off after "many hours" of fierce fighting, the Vietnamese army reported.

There was no word if any of the dozen or so Americans in the camp were casualties.

In the air war, bad weather around Hanoi limited U.S. warplanes to strikes in the southern part of North Vietnam, with 134 missions flown against truck parks and storage areas. But Air Force pilots reported setting off 70 secondary explosions at one truck park just north of the demilitarized zone and believed they hit either surface-to-air missiles or artillery pieces.

The United States lost three more planes: an F4 Phantom shot down in the north with two crewmen missing, and a F100 Super Sabre shot down just south of Saigon, and a small observation plane shot down on a reconnaissance mission just below the demilitarized zone.

A total of 637 U.S. combat planes now have been reported lost over North Vietnam and 197 over South Vietnam.

The attack on the Special Forces camp at Tong Le Chan, 54 miles northwest of Saigon, began with a rain of mortar shells. Then the Red soldiers, believed to be the 165th North Vietnamese regiment, stormed the camp.

Otherwise only small scattered actions were reported in the 34 allied ground operations that have been announced.

While the weather was bad over Hanoi, it was clear over North Vietnam's southern panhandle, and Navy pilots from the carriers Oriskany and Constellation said they blasted two enemy torpedo boats out of the water, damaged another and damaged 49 boats of other types.

The U.S. cruiser St. Paul and the Australian destroyer Hobart shelled a North Vietnamese radar station on Hon Mat island, 20 miles north of Vinh, and reported they left the area in flames.
